TAFTVILLE

The Artisans held their regular monthly meeting Monday evening in St. Louis Hall.
The Community Sewing Circle met Monday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Pomeroy Building.
Rev. Arthur Varley of North Slater Ave. was in Portland, Conn., over the week and where he preached his first sermon as pastor of the Congregational Church.
Friends in town have received cards from Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Parent formerly of this village, announcing their arrival at St. Cyril, near Quebec, Canada, where they are to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barritt of Norwich Avenue have returned from a stay of several days in New Bedford, Mass.
Miss Mathilde Stapher has returned from a week's stay with friends in Fairfield, Conn.
The Wequonnet School opened Monday morning after having been closed for the annual spring vacation.
Harold Heap, a student at the New Bedford Textile School, New Bedford, Mass., is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Heap of South Front Street, for a week.

Wilfred Linderson of North Slater Avenue has returned from a week's stay with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Vergason of North Stonington.
Thomas McCartney has returned to his home in New Bedford, Mass., after spending a few days in town, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodby of Norwich Avenue.

There is a growing sentiment among sport fans in the village for an organization of a baseball league. Many believe that with the cooperation of surrounding towns, a six or eight team league could be launched and supported for the coming season. Some of the officials of the Taftville Athletic Association are taking this matter up with managers of teams in towns in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. William Whitehead of South Front Avenue, are in Fall River, Mass., for a few days.
Wilfred Faucher has resigned his position with the Pomeroy Co.
Raymond A. Pingree has returned to his studies at Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., after spending the spring vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Pingree of North Slater Avenue.
William Kendall and daughter, Mrs. Theodore Goodrum of Norwich Avenue, spent Sunday in Assonet, Mass., the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, making the trip in their motor.

She could eat anything—without indigestion or sleeplessness

For a time she had been troubled with gas after her evening meal. The distress was most painful after eating potatoes or other starchy foods, of which she was very fond.

Then she started taking two cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every night between her evening meal and bedtime. She poured about a half cup of boiling hot water over the yeast cakes, stirred them thoroughly, added a little cold water and drank.

She found she could eat anything and sleep peacefully afterward.

Thousands of men and women are finding that Fleischmann's Yeast corrects stomach and intestinal troubles. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. Appetite is always kept normal and you are protected against indigestion.

Add 2 to 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your daily diet. You will find that your whole digestive system is greatly benefited. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Fleischmann's Yeast.

Monday's Session.
The conference opened at 8:30 on Monday morning with a short devotional service.
A resolution asking the Rhode Island state legislature to use all possible means to secure the immediate passage of a bill which will effectively enforce the national prohibition amendment was passed.
Reports were given including the following items: The Home Missionary society of the denomination has expended $19,232.55 within the boundaries of this conference the past year. The pastors' salaries the past year as paid aggregate $24,175. A gain of $7,500 over the year preceding. The district superintendents and their work received support to the amount of $9,458, the same being a decrease of $127 as compared with the preceding year.

For the support of the bishops $4,454 was raised, showing a gain of $425.
For the support of the retired ministers, $16,171, showing a gain of $3,239.
Eighty local preachers were reported.
There were 425 adult baptisms and 104 infant baptisms. There were received 1,194 preparatory members and there are on the rolls at this time 1,618 preparatory, showing a net increase of 48, the past year, although there were 483 deaths reported. The Sunday school enrollment in the conference is 32,263.
Rev. W. H. Easton, a professor in Morgan college in Maryland, and a member of the conference, was invited to address the conference. He spoke interestingly of his work which is among colored people. Illustrating the enthusiastic nature of these people, he quoted from recent compositions of colored students, one of these, describing a recent dinner he had attended, said: "My teeth certainly made footprints on the sands of time in that turkey." Another related of a certain person, "He died of heart disease and then again of asthma."

Reports of the various committees were read in the closing hours of the conference.
Rev. E. C. Bass, D.D., presided over the conference for a short period Monday morning, it being necessary for the bishop to submit to a short meeting to consider more fully some of the appointments.
Rev. Frederick C. Baker rendered his final report as publisher of the Conference Year Book. Mr. Baker has held this position twenty-one years and has been a very efficient officer. Rev. Lyman G. Horton served the conference since Year Book. Mr. Baker has held this position twenty-one years and has been a very efficient officer. Rev. Lyman G. Horton served the conference since Year Book.

Resolutions recognizing the conditions in the industrial world especially as seen in the prevalent strikes and urging the principles of the gospel as the only remedy and calling upon both parties in the dispute to submit their contentions to a justly constituted board of arbitration, were adopted.

H. A. Fifield, treasurer of the conference board of trustees, was introduced amid applause and characterized by the bishop as one of the most useful laymen in the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. Fifield declined to speak, playfully remarking that, unlike the preachers, he worked with his hands and not with his mouth, provoking much laughter and applause.

In calling for the offering usually taken for the janitor the bishop playfully expressed the hope that we could help the janitor to put new meaning into an old passage of Scripture which says "I would rather be a doorkeeper in the house of the Lord than to dwell in the tents of wickedness."
The bishop announced the transfer of George Davies from the New Hampshire conference and the transfer of Clayton E. Delamater to this conference in the New Hampshire.

The resolutions adopted in closing covered the matters generally included, expressing expressions of appreciation to all who have served in making this a most delightful gathering.

Sunday Sessions.
The love feast was held at 9 a. m. on Sunday in Strand theater and was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. C. Bass, who has been in the ministry since 1881. He is still effective and has held the effective relationship 41 years which is the longest term of effective service ever rendered by a member of the New England Southern Conference in all its history.
At 10:30, the time of the morning preaching, the great theater was completely filled, practically all the seating capacity, which provides for 2,200 people being occupied.
A large chorus choir composed of the three choirs of First and Thompson churches (Pawtucket) and Embury church (Central Falls) led the singing. Rev. J. I. Bartholomew, Ph. D., president, and Bishop Hughes preached from Exodus 30: 12, "Honor thy father and thy mother that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

The ordination service took place at 3 p. m. Bishop Hughes was assisted by Rev. John H. Newland, D. D., Rev. Ira W. LeBaron and Rev. William H. Balf. The following were ordained as deacons: Charles M. Conlter, Fred W. Knickrehm, Theodore Peterson, Adlai T. Shulmaier, Leslie D. Vesey, Bertram F. Wentworth, George H. Wilbur and Edwin I. Winters. The following were ordained as elders: Russell W. Bosworth, S. Raymond Lally and Earl E. Story. Rev. John W. Annas assisted in ordaining Mr. Story. The bishop made a few very fitting remarks.
The evening service was in charge of Rev. L. C. Harris. The music was in charge of the union choir of the three churches. The lecture of the evening was given by Rev. M. P. Burns, D. D., superintendent of city work, Board of Home Missions. It was illustrated with stereopticon and showed pictures and charts of remarkable work which is being done all over the United States.

STATIONS OF CROSS BLESSED
In Rev. Peter J. Cuny's church.
The Waterbury American had the following reference to St. Cecilia's church, of which Rev. Peter J. Cuny, formerly of Norwich is pastor.
The ceremony of blessing the new Stations of the Cross at St. Cecilia's church, of Waterbury, took place Friday evening. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Father Bernard, O. M., of St. Francis' Monastery, New York. At the solemn benediction, which followed the reading of many of blessing, the officers were: celebrant, Rev. Farrell Martin, D. D., a former pastor; deacon, Rev. Peter J. Cuny, the present pastor, sub-deacon, Rev. Daniel Manning of St. Patrick's church, and master of ceremonies, Rev. William Botticelli of the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes. During the services, Rev. Joseph McCuen of the Immaculate Conception Church was seated in the sanctuary.
The parishioners of St. Cecilia's are justly proud of their newly decorated church. The decorators have made it a beautiful and inspiring place of worship. Done in pure Gothic style, it is the filigree and reverence of the parish for the Divine Presence ever dwelling on its altars. The altar, of white, surmounted by crosses of gold, stands out from a background of panels with scrolls of gold skillfully executed and set in the wall of the sanctuary, the panels being crowned with a frail, delicate border of artistic design. The body of the church is in buff, with scroll work and borders clear and perfectly balanced. The ceiling of the sanctuary is done in marine blue, with a border of deeper blue, which imparts a distinctive note to the two large panels over the main altar. The new stations harmonize with the general plan of decoration.

Officials of the pet show were: Superintendent, Earl M. Wood; secretary, Reynolds Palmer; judge, James L. Tourtelotte; judge of bird houses, Edward Scott.
Over 50 Scouts entered pets of all descriptions, there being about 70 animals placed on exhibition. Over a dozen well constructed bird houses were also exhibited for prizes.

The Taftville and Greenville troops were strong competitors with the Norwich Scouts. George Heibel's rabbits were particularly fine animals, some of them having received ribbons at Madison Square Garden, New York.
The people of Norwich patronized the exhibition and a snug sum was added to the treasury for current expenses of the year. The New London County Agricultural Society loaned the coops and R. H. Montgomery a truck for transportation.

The sea scouts aided throughout the day, appearing in their new uniforms.

MRS. FANNIE GARDNER DIES IN ROCHESTER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Rochester, N. Y., April 3.—Mrs. Fannie Gardner, sister of Mrs. S. W. Vail of Norwich, died last night of a brief illness at her home, 182 Mulberry street. She leaves a son, Grovernor L. Gardner of Brighton, New York, a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Mullins, a brother, J. H. Gardner, both of Rochester, two grandchildren, ten nieces and seven nephews.

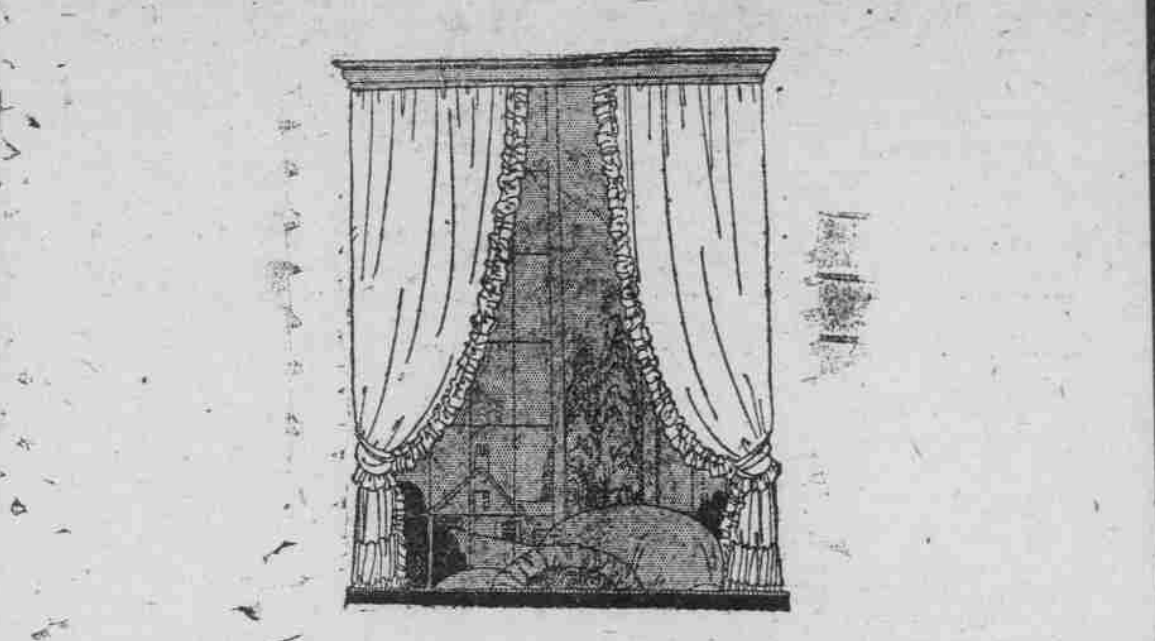

BAPTIST WOMEN WORKING IN CONTINUATION CAMPAIGN

The continuation campaign of the Northern Baptist women to raise the needed portion of the one hundred million dollars desired for the work of the denomination at home and abroad is well organized in Connecticut.
Mrs. J. D. Rough of Norwich, is the efficient campaign director, aided by prayer and publicity directors for the state and well organized associational leaders for all phases of the work, also by women in even the small local churches.
The women's quota for the state is $37,500, that of New London association is $4,800. Mrs. C. E. Gardner of New London, and Mrs. C. E. Hill of Norwich, F. D., are the leaders. All money is to be paid by April 30th.

A Brooklyn correspondent mentions that Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, Miss Cella White, Herbert Ward and Muriel Parker, all of North Franklin, were recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. George Parker's.

MOUNTAIN DAWN.

Across the dark linked loveliness of lakes
A sign goes, and a bird awakes:
A sleepy thrush, a mottled thrush, whose wings
Shake off the dew the moment when he sings.
And like the drops of crystal on the ground,
After the song there is no other sound.
Dim, dim, oh, beauty that awaits the gold,
Yet with me pause a little while, and stay
The more familiar coming of the day:
Bring me faint sounds I cannot hear
I hear the haunted waterfall and hill;
The echo of the night, among the trees
The echo of the slight, moon-shivered breeze;
And that calm presence which enchants the hills
From twilight on, and all the valley fills
With dreams and dreaming radiance and hush—
Wait! Wait! Ah, wait, till once again
The thrush!—
—Maxwell Struthers Burt, in Harper's.

THE TRIUMPH OF FORGOTTEN THINGS.

There is a pity in forgotten things.
Banished the heart they can no longer fill.
Since restless Fancy, spreading swallow wings,
Must seek new pleasures still.
There is a patience, too, in things forgot:
They wait—when they find the portal long unused;
And, knocking there, it shall refuse them not—
Nor ought shall be refused, I think.
Ah, yes, though we, unheeding years on years,
In alien pledges spend the heart's estate;
They bide some blessed moment of quick tears—
Some moment without date—
Some gleam on flower, or leaf, or bearded dew,
Some tremble at the ear of memoried sound
Of mother song—they seize the slender thread
The old loves gather round!

When that which lured us once now luresh not,
But the tired hands their garnered "dross" let fall,
This is the triumph of the things forgot—
To hear the tired heart call!
And they are with us at life's farthest reach,
A light when into shadow all else dips,
As in the stranger's land, the native speech
Returns to dying lips.
—Edna M. Thomas, in Indianapolis News.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"When is the first robin due?"
"Dunno, I'm looking for the first shad."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
"A bachelor is but half a man and doesn't know it," remarks an exasperated married man is reminded of it often."—Boston Transcript.
"Why do you allude to this stock as 'London bridge'?"
"It's always falling."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
Daughter: "Half the keys on this piano make no sound."
Father (trying to read): "Play on that half, daughter."—Boston Transcript.
Ted: "Tom was surprised when the traffic cop handed him a summons for speeding."
Ned: "Surprised is no name for it. He never thought that old car of his could hit it up like that."—New York Sun.
"A woman's crowning glory is her hair."

"No matter how you feel," said the jolly person, "you should always try to seem cheerful."
"I do," replied the morose one. "I always laugh when I go to a comic opera."—Wayside Tales.
"This fellow tells me he is a landscape painter."
"Well, he does decorate the landscapes in a way. Paints advertisements on rocks and trees."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
"They can't be so wild and wicked after all."
"Who can't?"
"The flappers. I just overheard one exhausted creature remark to another that she was a flapper, and she would 'back her up.'"
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"A young man with a hole in his sock sending a girl flowers makes me think."
"Unhappily he needs a wife."
"Well, maybe some of these flappers can sew."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
Pat was the man who did all the odd jobs about the place, and, owing to petty thieving, his employer instructed him to get a good yard dog.
Pat was out all day and in the evening handed him with a dashhound.
"What on earth have you brought along, Pat?" queried his employer.
"Well, sir," said Pat, "he's the nearest I could get to a yard dog—he's two feet long, inches long."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.
